Ang Kwento ni Money
SYNOPSIS

Money Buenamano is a Barangay Captain known for his integrity and being respectable. But apart from his good morals and reputation, he and his ancestors were also into saving old coins from the 1900's onwards.

He has a son named Pepito and a daughter-in-law named Helen. He also has two grand daughters named Zoe and Hannah. Being good citizens of their barangay, they live at peace in their area. The parents Pepito and Helen run a humble karenderia to support their family; and the children are known to be diligent students in school. The peace in the barangay got disrupted when one day Money, Pepito and Helen got involved in a Networking Scam. Because of this, the barangay residents' money got depleted. The people in his barangay blamed Money because he is the Barangay Captain. Castor, his political rival, instigated this.

Meanwhile Zoe the first born of Pepito and Helen and the most popular girl in school was threatened when a new girl in school was causing too much attention and was trying to steal her crush Eric.

As victims of the scam, Pepito and Helen thought they were at the lowest point of their lives. However, they saw a glimmer of hope when Hannah's teacher and a coin collector revealed that the coins that their family has been keeping for decades are now worth millions of pesos.

This story is about integrity, saving money, family, bullying, peer pressure, envy and Philippine history and culture.
